TL;DR & Editorial Take

The US markets ended the latest session with mixed results, as the S&P 500 and Dow Jones declined by -0.17% and -0.20% respectively, while the Nasdaq 100 and Russell 2000 posted gains of +0.51% and +0.51%. The 10Y yield surged +1.19% to 4.70, influencing market sentiment.

The key takeaways from the session include:

- The energy sector, led by XLE, was a top performer with a +1.39% gain.
- The VIX declined by -2.60% to 14.25, indicating reduced market volatility.
- The DX fell by -0.32% to 99.64, affecting currency markets.

Our editorial take is that the surge in the 10Y yield may lead to increased market volatility in the coming sessions, and investors should closely monitor interest rate movements and their impact on the overall market.
