What Could Break the Tape

BEARISH TRIGGERS

A decline in the global economy, led by a slowdown in China and the US, could lead to a further decline in the stock market. Additionally, an increase in tensions between the US and China could lead to a trade war, which would have a negative impact on the global economy.

BULLISH TRIGGERS

A strong earnings report from major companies, such as MSFT and GOOGL, could lead to an increase in the stock market. Additionally, a resolution to the trade tensions between the US and China could lead to an increase in global trade, which would have a positive impact on the global economy.
