What Could Break the Tape

BEARISH TRIGGERS

A drop in the US GDP growth rate below 2.0% could lead to a decline in investor sentiment, causing the market to drop. Additionally, a rise in the VIX above 20 could indicate increased market volatility, leading to a sell-off.

BULLISH TRIGGERS

A strong US GDP growth rate above 3.0% could lead to an increase in investor confidence, causing the market to rally. Furthermore, a drop in the VIX below 15 could indicate decreased market volatility, leading to a buying spree.
